The late Shivkishan Rathi, father of Radhe and Monty Rathi, left his home of Bikaner, Rajasthan India at a young age. In his late 20s, he was able to achieve his dream when he arrived in Mumbai, the business capital of India. In early 1980s, he formed a textile company that produced ladies' clothing, fabrics, and men's clothing. He always believed in vertical manufacturing to control quality, cut out the middlemen, and pass the savings on to customers. Through hard work and passion, the dream became reality. Kaleen soon grew and achieved success in the textile industry. As the business and family grew, Kaleen quickly formed a distribution arm in the USA in 1997. Kaleen Rugs & Broadloom.

Kaleen as a marketing division, formed a distribution center in the Carpet Capital of the World, Dalton, Georgia. Kaleen's North American distribution center has over 250,000 square feet, which distributes rugs and Broadloom across North America.

Cleaning and Care

All Kaleen products are unique by nature. Routine care and cleaning are vital to maintaining the long-term durability and appearance of your product. For maximum appearance retention, rotate for rugs every 3-6 months. Keep your rug out of direct sunlight as much as possible. With the exception of our Indoor/Outdoor products that have been UV protected, rugs in direct sunlight will fade over time.

Minor spills on Kaleen Rug & Broadloom with the exception of our hand-processed Jute, Tensil OR Viscose products may be restored by first scraping off any food or debris with a dull instrument. Then mix a very small amount of dish soap with a cup of cold water. With a clean sponge and your soap mixture, gently remove the remainder of the stain.

Avoid using excessive water. Blot the area with a dry cotton towel or white paper towel and allow to dry thoroughly. However, for best results, professional cleaning is always recommended.

Natural fiber rugs such as wool should be professional cleaned to remove more stubborn stains.

Jute textured rugs are extremely sensitive to moisture and humidity. It is recommended that these rugs be professionally cleaned if it becomes necessary.

Tensil/Viscose Rugs & Broadloom are also extremely sensitive to moisture & humidity. Under no circumstances should these products coming contact of water as discoloration will occur.

Synthetic fiber rugs made from materials such as Olefin, Polypropylene or Nylon can be cleaned with common household cleaners such as Fantastic or Formula 409 to remove more stubborn stains and/or grease.

Indoor/Outdoor can accept a periodic over-all cleaning by spraying a mixture of soap and water over the entire rug and then thoroughly rinsing with a garden hose.

Viscose & Chenille blended yarns rugs are not suitable for high traffic area.
