SUMMARY

The MR Direct ProCare: Copper Wax is an outstanding product created to preserve the patina on your copper appliances by producing a protective coating on the surface. This wax can be applied to cool or warm, clear-coated or non-coated areas. If the surface is extremely hot, let the area cool down before applying the wax. This product also tends to work better when warmed up, as it will easily set into the pores of the metal. The ProCare: Copper Wax consists of a perfect blend of the finest waxes known for finishing copper, along with the most effective binders, rust and UV inhibitors. Before using this product, thoroughly review the instructions and guidelines. The manufacturer is not responsible for damage resulting from misuse of this product.
